This Half Term

Welcome back after the half term holiday - I hope you had a fabulous break. This half term will only be five weeks long, however it will be packed full of learning, particularly as countdown to SATs is fast approaching.

Thank you to all of the parents that attended parents evening; it was super to see so many of you. If you weren't able to attend, then if you could pop into see me at your earliest convenience, so that I can give you a copy of your children's reports.

It is World Book Day this week, so the children are required to bring a book into school, to donate. Additionally, they will need to dress up as a character from a book or wear a hat that depicts a scene from a story that they have read. I look forward to seeing the creations.

This half term, we are starting a new topic entitled- Revolution, which time period is linked to the Victorian Times; therefore it will have a concentrated historical focus. If the children have any items they would like to bring in, that links with the Victorians, then that would be fabulous. I am also planning a themed dress up day, in the last week of term, so if you would be kind enough to think of an outfit for the children to wear, it would be very much appreciated.

As always, any questions or queries, then please don't hesitate to contact me.

Kind regards,

Miss Morys

A Little About Our Topic

Revolution

Find out about super-strict schools by travelling back in time to a Victorian classroom. Make sure you're on your best behaviour though as punishments are unquestionably terrible!

Discover a time when minds thought new thoughts and ingenious inventors created so many things we take for granted today: the electric lightbulb, the telephone and even the first flushing loo!

Let's forge ahead to research a time when Victoria was Queen and Albert was Prince Consort, and when some people lived in slums while others prospered.

Full steam ahead to the Victorian age!

Special Events/Achievements/News

It's really encouraging to hear when children in Class MM, have taken part in activities outside of school; a special mention to Sam Frolely for achieving another Swimming award during half term. Also Sam Harrison for achieving Green Tag in Taekwondo.

Look out for information about our 'Dress up as a Victorian Day', in the last week of half term, when parents will be invited into school, to look at children's work and to take part in the some activities.

Good luck to Niamh and Seb Hillard for this coming Friday, when they will take part in indoor athletics, against all the teams in Warwickshire.

Final Note

We may experience some snow this week, so please stay tuned for any school closures.

There are no changes to the timetable and swimming will continue for Year 5's on a Friday afternoon.

The learning log will be available this week. A big well done to all of the children who completed the learning log, to such a high standard. I was super impressed in the care and attention that the children clearly invested in the project. A marked improvement.

Well done everyone, I'm looking forward to another half term.

If you have any queries or questions about anything, then please don't hesitate to contact me.
